
Updating Local Servers

Posted by Bicinho - 2007/10/23 20:23

We at Arthouse at the Jones Center have what we believe is the latest version of pachyderm installed on our server. At the conference we heard that timeline and comparison templates (and maybe others) were available, but can't figure out where to find these newly developed screens and how to get them onto our server. Ideas?

Hi Bicinho-

The templates have still not been released. We hope to have them on SourceForge by the end of this week. The development team wanted to validate them before putting them out there. I want to see them out there as much as you do. Once they are released, they will be the frontpage story on PachyForge.

Scott,

Thanks so much for the update. We look forward to seeing them soon!
